

MED  EL

Hello!

I am a Hearing
Implant user

My hearing implant device enables me to hear.

The implant consists of an internal and external component.

The external component is attached to the back of the head and behind the ear.

The internal component is located under the skin.

Both components contain metal elements that are likely to set off metal detectors and show up on body scans.

Patient Identification Card

Name _____

Signature _____